We handled a full line of post cards, postage stumps, etc. And let me Henry, 8 to 10 a, to,, 4 to 5,30 p, m. mention right here that we kept, the very bost trade at postage stumps. Phones: Office, 552; Residence ins. Sufe with Mary in the manger that I not Som had. One bright spring-day old Annt Malinda Hayw came in with three dozen spring resorters and a few rates. The reason I way some came with these; roosters was that they were all in one wagon, and Annt Mallinde's speckfed facet boy, Hobe, was the driver. Rule came in and announced that. Maand a coop of chickens was out there is the wagon. After tradition awhile, A out Malinda said, William how much is coming to me? and I told her three cents. Her reply was that she would take a box of matches and a two cent stamp. I said to be: Aunt Malinda, I am sorry but I an't give you the stamp.

Uncle Sam does not deal in chickens. Then she asked where is your Uncle Sam? I know he will let me have the stamp.-After about three months waiting, Aunt Malinda received her washing machine, which turned out very unsatisfactoryly We had a better machine which we sold within twenty two cents as cheap, with no freight and no waiting to get it, and added to it all, a positive guarantee that it was all right, and would give satisfaction. Aunt Malinda wrote the mail order house, but as often is the case they ould not help her out of her trouble.

Finally let us suggest that it is better to patronize your home merchant and thereby help build up your own county and increase your own land values instead of helping to DENTIST. build up Chicago or some other big city. Now, Mr. Mail Order Man, Bill Hanks did not write this with the purpose of getting into an argument, for Hill does not argue-Not even with his wife. Next week we will say a few words about what the merchants and professional men should do to help the farmer. If you Real Estate Notaries Pubare not a Times subscriber, I know you are a Times reader. Carved sandal wood makes a fan for a lifetime, which depends for ornamentation upon the way in which the sticks are cut out in a lace pattern. They are held together by a narrow ribbon. The faint and deliclous odor of the wood makes this a fan to treasure.

Nothing but a satin-like paper and brown wood sticks form the ground upon which some artist has distin-guished himself in the last fan. Such fans may be found ranging in price from about 50 cents to $2.
